

A special invitation to:

2008

GREENEST CAR OF THE YEAR®

AWARD CEREMONY

AT THE LOS ANGELES AUTO SHOW

Thursday, November 15, 2007 | 12:00 noon

In front of the convention center at Figueroa St. and Pico Blvd.

You are invited to join in a celebration of true fuel efficiency. This year's GreenEST car, the plug-in hybrid, will save consumers money at the pump, break our addiction to foreign oil, curb climate change, minimize air pollution, and create green jobs. The winner of the 2008 GreenEST Car of the Year® (GCOY) award blows away the competition in fuel efficiency and low tailpipe emissions.

Come watch our live, high-speed conversion of a gasoline-electric hybrid to a plug-in electric hybrid. Later, take a test-drive of the award-winning vehicle that boasts 100+ mpg.

We'll show automakers how they can embrace a clean future by getting plug-in hybrids into the hands of eager consumers rather than retreating from progress by litigating against clean car legislation in California and 13 other states.
